I first met Don when he was assigned to the 7520th USAF Hospital just outside London. He impressed me as a very top notch Staff Sergeant who stood out among his peers. When I got to know his background having served in the Navy followed by service with the Marine Corps in Korea I could see how that experience influenced his life. Don and I shared a mutual interest in motor racing we became good friends. Along with that mutual interest I was very impressed by Don's leadership qualities. Don had been promoted to Technical Sergeant and NCOIC of the Dental Laboratory. Being a Medical Equipment Repairman I had numerous opportunities to visit his operation. Don was determined to be the best he could be and he worked hard to mentor his staff to become the best that they could be. He was an outstanding leader. While I did not make a career out of the Air Force I met up with Don again when I was living and working in Los Angeles and he was stationed at Norton AFB in San Bernardino. While my career would move me from LA to other parts of the country, Don and I stayed in touch and remained lifelong friends. When Don was your friend as many will attest; you would be hard pressed to find a more courageous, loyal and trustworthy friend. I was extremely blessed to have had Don for a friend.

Hello. My story with Don is different. Different in a good way. I had the pleasure of being hired by Don straight out of medical assistant school. I quickly came to appreciate the brilliance of this gentleman. And he was indeed, always a gentleman. I learned so much assisting him with every patient....and sometimes animals! I could not mention him without breaking out in a huge smile. We worked hard, but had many laughs as well. My favorite story was his coming into work one morning sporting a huge black eye. Sandy and I immediately asked what happened? We were told that he stopped in for a drink after work and another customer there wanted him, Kenny Rogers, to sing. As you know Don truly resembled Kenny Rogers. Well, the customer decided that 'Kenny Rogers' was full of his self importance and let poor Don have it. The black eye was the result Don paid for resembling Kenny Rogers! My admiration, respect and love for this dear friend of mine, will always bring a sad smile to my face now. My daughter remains friends with Don's son and I tell you honestly, Donald Kluge Jr., your dad was a spectacular man. My condolences to all those that loved him. I personally adored him. 🍷📺❤️

I first visited Dr Kluge in 1984 after my mother read an article in the local paper about him making an eye for a young girl. I believe it is the article in the photos below from Kristie. From the first day walking into his office, i felt really comfortable and knew i was going to get and eye made that i would be proud of and that it would be right. Several years later, getting my second eye made from him, he did not like how it was coming out and scrapped it making two more until it was right. That is how it always was with him, making you comfortable and providing you with something that others could not tell the difference between real and painted.His attention to detail and they way that you felt when he was finished made it worth fighting with the insurance companies to get a referral to him.We are all so fortunate that Donald Jr has proudly taken up his father mantel and to know that the work that he and Melissa are doing is changing peoples lives and allow them to live their lives to the fullest.He will always hold a special place in my life.Randy Cox

Mr. Kluge was indeed a very Noble Gentleman. His passion for his work made my life better. I always had problems with my artificial eye until I met him. The last prosthesis made in New York was not good at all. .. In my wildest dreams I could not imagine that on Arrow Avenue in San Bernardino I was going to find a better ocularist than on Lexington Avenue in N.Y. Thanks Mr. Kluge.Antonio Carvalho

Some of you know many of you don't but I was born with a very tiny eye that was blind on my left side. I was one of the first newborns to ever be fitted with a prosthetic eye by Dr. Don Kluge. My mom had just given birth to her first baby and was in love but didn't know what to do to protect and help me from the world. He gave my parents hope and the opportunity to fit in with my peers physically. I was teased plenty growing up because my prosthetic eye looked a bit different but my parents and Dr Kluge made sure to not let those things get to me. He introduced me to so many accomplished people that had an eye like me to show me that it wouldn't stop me from doing whatever I wanted!!He worked so hard on my eyes over the years to make them as realistic as possible and my parents had great jobs to help pay for them, they are not cheap! Many people think I have a lazy eye and when they find out it's a prosthetic they always ask "how do you drive? "How did you play volleyball?" And I reply " like everyone else" lol. But seriously it takes me being more aware and looking a thousand times while driving and always knowing where I'm at on the court. Yes I run into things, could be just my clumsiness, and unfortunately cannot see 3D but I am very grateful that I can even see at all! He has truly changed my life from the moment I was born not only physically but mentally and emotionally giving me the confidence to do what everyone else could!!He passed away a couple days ago and I hope he knows what a special place he holds in my life and in my heart! I love you Dr Don Kluge and thank you for everything!!
