Wow, I can hardly believe it's been nearly 10 years. I have lost so many, including my own sister in 2009. I just wanted to leave you all a note and let you know his friends haven't forgotten him, we still think of and speak of him. RIP Chris, you will always be remembered.

I miss you so much!! OK a memory with my best friend it was a weekend his parents were out of town. Chris couldn't leave the house. Reason being a miniature horse was soon to be born. I was really tired so I gathered my things got in my car to go home. Chris came running outside it was like 2am come back and help me. So I stayed and I got to see the birth. It was really cool. Love you so much and miss you bunches!!!!!! Love Term 04-29-2016

Chris was part of the gang I hung out with back in the mid '80's and early '90's. We weren't close friends, but Chris made a huge impact on my perspective just by being himself. It made me a better person and I've carried this memory of him with me all these years. I seen him a couple of times in the last few years and I wanted to share this with him and thank him, but didn't know how to go from casual conversation to sentimental and mushy! It's too late for me to share this with him so I wanted to share it with you, his family and loved ones.##imported-begin##Kathy##imported-end##

Chris and I were very close and met in high school through a mutual friend. Over the years we did not talk as often as I was out of state. Every time I came to town and we saw each other it was like the years had not passed. He was a good friend and we had some great times. Quoting Monty Python was a pastime, that we enjoyed back in 85, and we were doing it again in 07. You will be missed Chris but I am glad you are happy now. With Love, Kristy

I remember the pride I felt when Aleta and Grant asked me to be Chris' godfather. But I must admit that I was more than a little relieved that his birthday was the day after Christmas, making it easy for even me to keep track of. My fondest memories of Chris really come from his early years. I remember when Aleta would take him for walks in his stroller and stop by our house. He was truly "the fair-haired child" being bright, blonde, and nearly beautiful in appearance. Today, my 93 year old mother is quick to point out that even then, he had the best manners and, as a result, seemed so grown up for his age. I remember our family was always a little awed by Chris, and the fine job his parents had done with him. Over the next 40 years those early memories and impressions I had of Chris never wavered or changed. In my memory he will be that bright and beautiful person he always was. I'll never forget him ...he really does remind me of my only grandchild. Your loving godfather, Bill

To the Driskill, Amendt, & Hunsaker Families: I am so sorry for your loss. Chris and I became good friends at Aquinas High School. I will always remember what a great friend he was to everyone. I will always appreciate the kindness he always showed to me. Chris had a wonderful sence of humor and wit. Chris was smart, funny, and very generous. Please know that all of you are in my prayers.
