Hello, my name is Paul McCullough and I have worked for Joan and Paul for probably 20 years. I am their air conditioning and heating repairman. It has always been a pleasure to go to their home and be welcomed with jokes and complete hospitality. We would always kid with sly comments. When I first worked for them I wasn't sure what to think about that. But then I couldn't wait to see them the next time. One of my most favorite customers. We could talk for quite awhile. Comparing how my daughter's were doing and especially their granddaughter Codie. They were so proud of her. I felt like family going their and Joan always had a Christmas Card for me. The only customer to give me a Christmas card. I will truly miss her like a family member. God bless you Paul and your family.

Mrs. Romans, I could never call her Joan, I was just raised that way, was like an adopted mother to me. I was one of her husband's young airmen who was luck enough to get to know her and him "off duty" thru her daughter Robin, some years after getting stationed at Norton Air Force Base and both treated me like a son they never had. We had lost contact for many years after I got married and left Norton for an overseas assignment and moved on in my Air Force career. But she never left my thoughts. I recall being a single young NCO without any credit history and I approached her at the base credit union for a personal loan, she was the loan officer at the base credit union, and the advice she gave me to established a credit history, which I was smart enough to follow served me and my family to this very day. I have fond memories of helping her plant rose bushes at the their then newly purchased house in Highland , the nights we went to the car races at the Orange Show grounds, and those holiday dinners that she would cook. RIP, Mrs Romans.
